

SPEAKEASIES TO BE IGNORED BY FEDERAL AGENTS

Are Instructed To Confine Attention To Supply Sources

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(AP)—Governor Henry Horner is contemplating signing the bills repealing the search and seizure act and the Illinois prohibition law late today or tomorrow, making them effective immediately.

Both bills were sent by special messenger to the Governor in Chicago directly after they were received in his office here from the Clerk of the House. Reference to the Attorney General, a customary procedure with important bills, was dispensed with. The only thing the bills do is to repeal the state anti liquor laws.

Prohibition enforcement will be placed entirely in the hands of the federal government the minute the Governor signs the two bills. That will make little difference in some cities, but in smaller rural communities there will be a considerable change, as one of the chief sources of revenue to county officials in some counties has been fines assessed against liquor violators.

Beer and whiskey regulation bills will be called up for passage in the Senate early next week. Sen. Harold G. Ward, sponsor announced.

Washington, Mar. 8.—(AP)—Henceforth the federal government will concentrate "almost entirely" on liquor manufacturers and transporters to enforce prohibition, leaving speakeasy prosecutions to the states.

As announced today by Amos W. Woodcock, enforcement director, the new plan puts into immediate effect the restrictions laid down by Congress to apply after July 1. This means no more wire-tapping or purchase of liquor as evidence for consumption by agents.

Woodcock placed the decision on the grounds of economy, necessitated by the huge cuts in enforcement funds made by the last Congress. The orders were dated Mar. 3, the day before the Roosevelt administration took office.

Up To Local Officers

How the new setup will affect states having no local enforcement acts remains to be seen. Woodcock said "complaints against speakeasies hereafter would be referred to local authorities," in the main, and predicted much more attacks on the sources of supply as a result.

In his statement, he referred to these two provisions of the new law: "That no part of this appropriation shall be used for or in connection with wire tapping to procure evidence of violations of the National Prohibition Act, as amended and supplemented."

"That no funds hereby appropriated shall be used for the purchase of intoxicating liquors which are consumed by the investigators or anyone with him, nor to pay informers, nor for the purchase of evidence except that the Director of Prohibition may authorize the payments of rewards for information of major violations of the law."

About Wire Tapping

"A great deal has been said about wire tapping," he continued. "The present method was approved by the House Committee on Expenditures in the executive departments in February of 1931. It was used exclusively against the larger syndicates, and out of a total of over 90,000 cases made during the last fiscal year, in only 102 of them."

"The restriction upon its use will therefore effect only our operations against the larger syndicates. It will be our problem to find an adequate substitute for it."

"The restriction upon the pay of all in my judgment. In the District of Columbia, the bureau has control in their selection or over paid for informers for the metropolitan police without having any their operations. Some change in method must be found here."

Frederick Hatch Died Tuesday Eve

Frederick W. Hatch passed away at his home east of Dixon on the Tuesday road last night, death resulting from an illness of over 71 years, 11 months and 12 days.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Florence Dempsey of Chicago and Mrs. Emilie Jeanguenat of Dixon; one son, Fred L. Hatch of this city; two brothers, Louis of Florida and Charles of California; and nine grandchildren. The deceased was an employee of the Northwestern railroad for a number of years, serving as crew dispatcher at the Kedzie avenue station in Chicago for 36 years and six months, when he was forced to retire in 1922 because of failing health. Funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later.

Bloomington Judge Stops Foreclosures

Bloomington, Ill., March 8.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Edward Barry has announced that he will enter no more deficiency decrees and appoint no more receivers in foreclosure suits at this time of court.

The move was endorsed by the McLean County Bar Association.

Circulation Of Currency To Be Undertaken In Place Of Scrip, Sec. Woodin Decides

Treasury Head Very Optimistic Over The Outlook

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Secretary Woodin said today that actual currency would be circulated in place of scrip or clearing house certificates under a plan now being formulated.

He did not disclose the plan under which currency would be used, but made it clear that a formal plan for scrip or other medium of exchange issue was being abandoned.

The Secretary appeared highly optimistic of the outlook.

"We can see the light here," he said, with a smile, on addressing newspapermen who surrounded him at his office in the Treasury Building.

"This thing isn't going to pieces."

It appeared that announcement as to what form of money was to be adopted and its backing must be made by midnight tomorrow, because a conditional regulation issued earlier in the week by Secretary Woodin permits issuance of scrip Friday morning.

Foresee Possibilities

The Secretary had apparently foreseen the possibilities of the present plan, for in issuing the clearing house certificate issuance permission he made it conditional that it might be revoked.

Federal Reserve currency could be expended $2,000,000,000. If the banks took full advantage of the Glass-Steagall law and have sufficient government bonds to put up as security above the 40 per cent gold requirement.

The law permits Federal Reserve banks to put up government securities to the face value of 60 per cent of the currency they issue, and requires that the other 40 per cent collateral be gold. The old law required a 40 per cent gold backing and a 60 per cent backing of eligible (commercial) paper.

On March 3, Federal Reserve banks had issued $3,865,000,000 of Federal Reserve notes.

Have Great Resources

Backing this they had $2,190,000,000 of gold, $1,132,000,000 of commercial paper, and $662,000,000 of government bonds.

Reports to the Treasury show that the banks actually hold about $220,000,000 more gold than they have up as security for currency or a total of approximately $2,400,000,000.

Using the entire $2,400,000,000 gold as 40 per cent security, the banks may, if they hold sufficient government bonds to make up the remainder of the collateral, issue roughly a total of approximately $6,000,000,000 in currency.

Since the banks in the last 18 months have been investing their funds chiefly in government securities, and there are something like $8,000,000,000 of long term bonds outstanding, Treasury officials believe they would have no difficulty whatever in expending the circulation to the full maximum permitted under the law.

Along Another Line

At the same time national banks could expend their currency by about $840,000,000 under the provisions of the Borah-Glass amendment attached to the Home Loan Bank law.

The banks under this amendment are permitted to issue currency up to maximum equal to their capital stock and back it with government securities bearing not more than 3 3/8 per cent interest. Though there were $3,500,000,000 such securities outstanding the capital stock of the national banks at the time the amendment was adopted amounted to $1,600,000,000.

The banks at that time had outstanding $66,000,000 of currency and since that time they have taken advantage of the amendment to the extent of $156,000,000. The figures were given in round numbers and officials said that there still remained an expansion of approximately $839,000,000 of which the national banks could avail themselves.

Combining the possibilities of the two acts Federal Reserve and national banks of the nation could expend nearly $3,000,000,000 in currency as rapidly as the details could be rushed through the Treasury.

PRICE OF PORK BROKE SHARPLY AT STOCK YARDS

Unexpected Arrival Of Large Supply Breaks Price

Chicago, March 8.—(AP)—The wholesale price of fresh pork broke sharply early today simultaneously with the arrival of a liberal supply of live hogs in the stock yards. Prices on prime loins declined 2 to 3 cents a pound with choice cuts selling at 13 to 16 cents, compared with 16 to 18 yesterday, and in isolated instances 20 cents.

The specter of short meat supplies vanished quickly. Estimated receipts of hogs were 18,000 head, 10,000 more than was indicated yesterday and a run equal to that of last Wednesday. Stock yards officials were amazed at the receipts, especially since packing plants had only 2,000 on direct billing.

Officials at the Government Bureau of Economics in the yards said that trucks were bringing the major portion of supplies.

"There will be at least 10,000 hogs hauled in by truck," said one. "They started coming in at 6 o'clock last night and they are still coming."

As a result, live hog prices started 10 to 15 cents lower than yesterday's peak and trading was slow. Wholesale produce trading found little change in the situation. Butcher receipts were smaller than usual and prices, quoted unofficially on the "street," were 1/2 to 1 cent higher. Egg receipts were fairly heavy and quotations were unchanged. Poultry and potatoes likewise showed no quotable price revision.

State Republican Publicity Bureau

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(AP)—Creation of a Republican publicity bureau in the state capital for the purpose of pointing out alleged faults and shortcomings of the Democratic administration was authorized by the managing committee of the Republican State Central Committee.

The move was taken at a meeting yesterday, called 10 days ago and cut short because of the death of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago.

John F. Tyrrell, chairman, announced his regret at holding the session at this time but said it had been impossible to cancel previous arrangements. Consequently, authorization of the publicity bureau was the principal business transacted.

TWO KIDNAPERS THOUGHT FLEEING TO CANADA

Four Members Of Gang Which Abducted Denver Man Caught

Denver, March 8.—(AP)—The ever widening search for the abductors of Charles Boettcher, 2nd, spread across the international line into Canada today.

Two of six persons against whom kidnapping charges have been filed in United States District court, are believed by Chief of Police Albert T. Clark of Denver to be fleeing this country. They are Vern Saukey, 41, named by police as the probable leader of the gang which held the 31-year-old wealthy broker captive more than two weeks and then collected $60,000 ransom for his safe release, and Gordon Elkhorn, alias Gordon Best, 33.

Police said both men formerly lived in Canada and were employed by the Canadian National Railway. They were believed by officers to have started their flight from the vicinity of Sankey's ranch, 18 miles northeast of Chamberlain, South Dakota, where Arthur Youngberg, 37, one of the six charged, was arrested. The house has been identified by officers, through descriptions given by Boettcher, as the place where he was held during ransom negotiations with his multi-millionaire father, Claude K. Boettcher.

Besides the two still at large, and Youngberg, who has waived extradition and is being returned here, these are named in charge filed by Ralph L. Carr, United States District Attorney.

Mrs. Ruth Kohler, 39; Mrs. Vern Sankey, mother of two children, and Carl Pearce, 36. All are held in jail here.

Carr said the charges are among the first filed under a new federal statute known as the "Lindbergh law" which allows a Federal Judge virtually unlimited authority to impose heavy sentence upon conviction.

Carr added the prosecution had "a good case."

LABOR BLAMES INDUSTRY FOR PRESENT CRISIS

Head Of Federation Of Labor Says It Must Lead Way Out

New York, Mar. 8.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address before the New York Board of Trade, Inc., asserted today that industry itself is responsible for the nation's economic predicament, and that industrial management must lead the way out.

Industry, said Green, who announced yesterday in Washington, that labor would demand higher wages if prices go up as a result of the present banking situation, "launched a destructive attack upon their own consuming market through the enforcement of lower wages and reduced buying power."

He expressed the opinion that it would be a fatal mistake for the business and professional interests of the nation to assume that labor will continue to exercise disciplinary control and self restraint if they are forced to suffer indescribable impoverishment and unspeakable distress indefinitely.

"For more than three years," he said, "they (labor) have exhibited a courage and loyalty which has challenged national and community admiration. At the present moment they are impatient. They are the real victims of unemployment and economic distress. They are firmly convinced that industrial management and those who actually control the financial and industrial affairs of the nation have refused to accept the remedies which labor proposed and have failed to deal with a great emergency in a constructive and practical way."

Green expressed the opinion that "the behavior of much of industrial management and of the representatives of many financial institutions during the last three years has been most unwise and injurious."

Three Contractors Figured On Sewer

The Board of Local Improvements of the city council last evening received three bids for the installation of a sanitary sewer on Sixth street between College and Jackson avenue. The contract will be awarded at a meeting to be held Friday morning at 11:30. The bids for the work were as follows: D. L. Heagy, Dixon, $360.00; Klein & Heckman, Dixon $495.00; Frank M. Hughes & Son, Dixon, $293.40.

Commissioner Loftus suggested that a time limit be placed on the bids to insure its early completion. At the regular council session, a resolution presented by Commissioner Loftus was adopted, providing that the city enter into an agreement with the state Department of Public Works and Buildings for the payment to the city of a sum for the maintenance of Illinois state highways within the city limits.

A claim for the sum of $15.55 of William Root, damages alleged incurred in colliding with a barricade on one of the city streets, was referred to the City Attorney and action deferred until next week. A petition of property owners requesting that street lights be installed on Spruce and Pine streets was referred to the Mayor with power to act.

Girl Falls Over Crutches, Killed

Sharpsburg, Ill., March 8.—(AP)—Eleanor Marie Sharp, 12, waved a greeting at a little girl of the neighborhood last yesterday, lost her balance and fell over her crutches, with such force that her neck was broken. A coroner's inquest today returned a verdict of accidental death.

For two weeks she had been walking with crutches to a sprained ankle, suffered at school. She had become proficient in the use of them, but waved so vigorously to a little neighbor girl yesterday, that she fell backward over them and took the full force of the fall on her neck.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Sharp.

MAYOR CERMAK'S BODY RETURNED HOME THIS MORN

Crowd Of 30,000 Meets Funeral Train In Chicago Today

Chicago, March 8.—(AP)—In a flag-swathed casket, Anton J. Cermak was returned today to the city from whose leadership he was disposed by an assassin's bullet.

The funeral train arrived from Miami, Fla. at 10 o'clock this morning. And in unofficial tribute Chicago entered a brief, voluntary moratorium of routine matters.

A crowd estimated at between 30,000 and 40,000 surged through the depot plaza an hour before the train chugged in. They swarmed over all vantage points, lining bridges, standing on train sheds. They were those who remembered him "back when" and later knew him as mayor, alderman and state legislator.

No Ceremonies Today

A delegation of city officials—members of the council, the mayor's cabinet and department heads, all dressed in somber black—met the casket as it was lowered from the coach. There were no ceremonies—only the placing of Chicago's official flag over the red, white and blue draped coffin.

The crowd bulged against police lines, and with difficulty a narrow corridor was opened. All stood with bared heads as the casket was borne to the hearse a short distance away.

Members of the Mayor's family and his intimate associates made an unobtrusive exit from their coach near the rear of the train and were swiftly escorted to official automobiles.

Among them were Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, Attorney General Otto Kerner and Alderman Henry Sonnenschein, for many years the mayor's secretary and confidante. They had boarded the train at Matteson, 25 miles south of the city.

Holiday Will Be Continued Until Laws Are Enacted

Banking Outlook

By The Associated Press
With gradually loosening restrictions, the bank holiday will be continued until Congress passes new legislation.

Meantime gold can not be paid out, but banks depositing gold with their Federal Reserve banks will receive in return currency which they can pay out now for necessities.

New currency also will be issued against other reserves made available under the Glass-Steagall bill. Maximum use of currency (other than gold) is intended, keeping use of scrip to a minimum.

Both the present emergency regulations and the permanent legislation are being framed to keep the strong banks doing business rather than to bolster actually insolvent institutions.

Banks In Brief

By The Associated Press

Secretary Woodin of the Treasury eliminated the question of using scrip to ease the national bank situation today by an announcement that a plan was being formulated to circulate actual currency.

Backed by a Treasury department order reopening Federal Reserve banks for limited transactions with members, financial institutions in many localities resumed business today on a restricted basis.

In some instances these activities still consisted merely of making change and rendering other small services, but in other cases advantage was taken of all 13 regulations laid down by Secretary Woodin of the Treasury and deposits and withdrawals for necessities were allowed.

Announcement was made that President Roosevelt intends to continue his command of the monetary situation until permanent legislation is possible and that a new proclamation is due on Thursday night when the present national holiday ends.

In his message to the special session of Congress on Thursday Mr. Roosevelt is expected to ask for broad powers to meet the situation.

From high quarters of the British government it was learned the situation in America in no way affected Great Britain's policy with regard to the gold standard, no return to the standard being contemplated at this time.

Canadian markets remained firm.

Washington, March 8—(AP)—A conference of farm organization leaders to agree on a farm program for presentation at the special session of Congress was called today for Friday morning by Secretary Wallace.

He said the program sought will be one capable of providing relief in the production of this year's crops.

"The agricultural crisis, growing in intensity since the close of the World War, demands immediate action," Wallace added in making his announcement.

He said he has in mind a modification of the original domestic allotment plan which involves a proposal for the renting of farm lands to remove them from surplus production. Wallace said action of Congress by March 15 is necessary, since planting will be under way by that date.

SENT TO COUNTY JAIL

Roy McMillon of this city was assessed a fine of $100 and costs and sentenced to a 60-day jail sentence to stand committed until the fine and costs were paid, when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of child abandonment before Judge Leach in the County Court this morning. State's Attorney Edward Jones nolle prossed the count charging wife abandonment, which was contained in the information, on the grounds that McMillon and his wife are divorced.

BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT

Dr. H. M. Edwards, chairman of the Big Brother committee of the Kiwanis club of this city, gave an interesting report of the committee's activities at the regular meeting of the club yesterday afternoon. The Big Brother committee is co-operating with State's Attorney Edward Jones and County Judge William Leach in assuming the guardianship of wayward boys in an effort to reduce the number of commitments to the St. Charles training school for boys and other similar institutions. The committee reported having been unsuccessful in securing the proper cooperation of one boy who is on parole out of the county court and who recently confessed to the theft of more than $20 from the cash register of a local service station.

GOVERNOR CALLS ON ILLINOISANS TO SUPPORT CHIEF

Says Emergency Is Challenge to Faith In Our Government

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 8—(AP)—Governor Horner today issued a proclamation calling on the citizens of Illinois to unite in wholeheartedly supporting "The President in his efforts to protect our nation from the serious consequences of further economic disturbances." The Governor now in Chicago, released the proclamation through the executive offices here.

The proclamation was as follows: "The emergency of the present is a challenge to our faith in orderly government, and our loyalty and devotion to and our confidence in its established institutions and functions."

"As in the time of war, when an enemy threatens our security, the situation demands of each and every one of us the fullest measure of cooperation with our President in his stupendous task of restoring our economic balance, our happiness and prosperity. The need of the hour calls for national unity in support of our President, a unity even more complete and unselfish than that necessary in war."

Must Share Burden

"Our President has responsibilities as grave as have ever faced a great leader in our history. His is the task of reestablishing our national faith in our ability to go forward. The people must share with him this great responsibility."

"I am convinced that there is throughout the nation a spontaneous spiritual feeling of confidence and hope in our chosen leader. The nature of our national crisis calls for an expression of this confidence in the combined voice of the people to show that they are unitedly behind him. As loyal citizens, each of us should subordinate all thought of self, of sectional interest and partisan politics to the common good of all, and unite behind the President to enable him to guide our nation quickly forward to better days. This responsibility is incalculable."

"Now, therefore, I, Henry Horner, Governor of the State of Illinois, impose upon them by the rights of citizenship, to join with me in the support, wholeheartedly and unselfishly of the President, in his efforts to protect our nation from the serious consequences of further economic disturbance, and to join with me in this expression of full faith and confidence in his leadership, and in a fervent prayer to God to protect and sustain him. And, I also urge that we appeal to the patriotism of Congress to cooperate with the President in taking such action as will guarantee economic stability, relief from unemployment and the restoration of confidence."

Dated at Springfield, Ill., this 8th day of March, 1933.

(Signed) Henry Horner, Governor of Illinois.

"Anschluss" Move Hits A Stone Wall

Vienna, Austria, Mar. 8—(AP)—The "Anschluss" movement for a union of Germany and Austria, spurred by Chancellor Hitler's electoral victory in Germany, bumped up against the stonewall of an Austrian dictatorship today. Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss assumed the powers of dictator upon the invitations of President Wilhelm Miklas, who refused to accept the resignation of the Dollfuss cabinet.

A rigid censorship was ordered and political demonstrations of all kinds were banned. The Chancellor promised ruthless maintenance of public peace.

The action was believed aimed at the enthusiastic demonstrations throughout the country Monday night, celebrating the Hitler victory and urging the "Anschluss."

Ex-Congressman's Body Lies In State

SEN. CUTTING REMOVED FROM BEST COMMITTEE

However, Republicans Insist Action Was Not Punitive

Washington, March 8—(AP)—Senator Cutting (R. N. M.) today was shown of his membership on the state's important Foreign Relations committee, but Republican Senators asserted he was not being penalized for having actively supported President Roosevelt in the campaign.

Members of the Republican conference, which today ratified the Republican Committee's selection of membership, said Cutting was the junior Republican on the committee and had to be eliminated from membership because of reduced Republican strength.

They added that Senator Shipstead (F-L. Minn.), whom the Republicans take care of in committee assignments, ranked the New Mexican and the party conference had to choose between them, preferring to permit Shipstead to remain because of his Senate seniority.

To make up the committee loss, Cutting was put on the Agriculture committee. He was named on the Foreign Relations committee at the last session.

President To Hit At Govt. Expense

Washington, March 8—(AP)—High government officials today said President Roosevelt will ask the new Congress this week to grant him the widest authority possible under the Constitution to effect immediate economies in government costs.

The request will be especially directed at veterans' compensation. Under the President's plan, it was stated, he would ask for authority to review all cases relating to veterans, and power to merge major departments and cut statutory appropriations.

The request is understood to be along the line of the proposal Vice President Garner advocated in the last Congress as Speaker. It is planned that the request be linked with a plea that to further restore confidence, government costs be sharply reduced and brought within the income if possible.

EMPLOYEES OF MOVIE STUDIOS FACE PAY CUTS

Reductions Extending For Eight Weeks Are Proposed

Hollywood, Cal., March 8—(AP)—Faced with an ultimatum from producers that all film studio activities will cease unless drastic pay cuts are taken by all employees for an 8-week period, union labor leaders and officials of the Association of Motion Picture Producers prepared to confer today on the problem. The studios will remain open pending settlement of the proposal.

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, in special session early today, recommended to its members that the cuts be taken. The proposal would call for a 30 per cent reduction in salaries of $30 weekly or more, with a minimum of $37.50 established. For those earning less than $50 weekly, the reduction would be 25 per cent with a minimum of $15 weekly. The reductions would extend only over an 8-week period and would be effective as of March 8.

All employees, artists as well as others, are affected by the ultimatum of the producers.

At the present time the payroll of the studios is approximately $1,500,000 weekly, and the average number of persons employed during the past few months has been approximately 10,000.

Champaign County Home Is "Broke"

Champaign, Ill., March 8—(AP)—Supervisor E. J. Anders announced today that bankruptcy threatened the Champaign county home.

He said that unless townships paid their share of expenses the home would be closed to further inmates. The city of Champaign and Cunningham townships were said to be among the larger debtors.

ROOSEVELT WILL KEEP FIRM HAND ON BANK CRISIS

ulation of currency instead of scrip.

Mr. Roosevelt will put before Congress tomorrow the first part of the governmental reorganization plan by which he expects to balance the budget and assure the national credit.

Still cheerful and smiling, the President talked over his plans and views today in his first interview with newspapermen, but not for quotation.

Ideas Revealed

His ideas for the future were guardedly revealed in the free exchange of questions and answers.

Continuation of the broad wartime powers is believed necessary by Mr. Roosevelt because of the fast changing events that have resulted from the closing of the banking institutions. He wants to make sure of the situation before laying before Congress a permanent plan of banking reorganization.

He wants no more emergencies in this field. The President realizes additional currency is necessary as a result of hoarding and the banking holiday, to permit the citizens to carry on the functions of life.

Scrip Sidetracked

First ideas for the use of a temporary scrip—clearing house certificates based on assets in the banks—were sidetracked for what the President feels is a sounder proposition.

He did not disclose what he had in mind, but it was believed to call for the use of additional Federal Reserve notes such as were authorized last night by the New York Federal Reserve bank under the Glass-Steagall Act of a year ago.

The President told newspapermen there probably would be two or three things in his message to Congress tomorrow in addition to banking, but he said these would be "surprises."

Sweeping reorganization of the government, however, is known definitely to be one of the subjects.

SITUATION IN STATE

Chicago, March 8—(AP)—General banking in Illinois remained at a standstill today, awaiting word from Washington as to the anticipated resumption of business Friday.

Extension of the state banking holiday by Gov. Henry Horner last night to conform with the regulations specified by the Secretary of the Treasury cleared the atmosphere of confusion.

Today the banks devoted special facilities to making change, arranging payment of drafts necessary for normal movement of foodstuffs, and preparing for the use of clearing house certificates if scrip is authorized. But there was no acceptance of deposits, no withdrawals or cashing of checks.

Governor Horner in a proclamation asked the citizenry to share with President Roosevelt the responsibility for restoring the economic balance and the national faith.

Chicagoan Returns

"The need of the hour," he said, "calls for national unity in support of our President, a unity even more complete and unselfish than that necessary in war."

James R. Leavell, president of the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Company, returned from the conference at Washington with advice to Chicago bankers to remain closed for the time being.

"Wait until we work out some uniform plan for meeting the emergency under Treasury rulings," he said. "If we are to have scrip, I prefer that it be of national issue. It will be difficult to operate with a thousand different kinds of paper in circulation. For example, what would be the reaction of the average man to a certificate from Memphis, Tenn., or Brockton, Mass., or any other city about which he knew very little?"

 ONE day a gypsy stopped me
 Held my hand and said,
 You'll not want for shelter,
 Silver coins, or bread.

Here are silken dresses,

 But you are going to banish
 One for whom you care.

Of course I didn't believe her,
 I think I said so, too—
 Now and then I wonder
 How the gypsy knew!

Janet Fairbank

Sings Monday Eve

Janet Fairbank, opera star, will be the next attraction for the Dixon

Civic Music Association, appearing here on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church.

It has been said of Janet Fairbank that her friendly, natural personality turns every concert hall into a drawing room.

Granddaughter of two leading

Chicago pioneers; daughter of the novelist, Janet Ayer Fairbank; niece of Margaret Ayer Barnes, whose

"Years of Grace" was awarded the Pulitzer Prize of 1931; a relative of a composer, a diseuse and a singer.

With such a background it is no wonder that Miss Fairbank took naturally to the arts.

At an early age Janet Fairbank showed a marked talent for music.

As a child she studied dancing at the Eavley-Okursky School in Chicago. She was a pupil of Rudolph Repter in piano, and took a course in musical theory at Radcliffe College. Having begun her education at a French school in Chicago, she spoke French as well as English, but it is characteristic of this intelligent young singer, she was not satisfied with this achievement, and spent several months perfecting her French diction with LaPiere, in Paris. While there, as a recreation, she danced every day at the rehearsals of the Diaghilev Ballet.

After a brilliant social debut she decided that singing was the greatest of her interests. Accordingly, she sought the advice of her friend, Mme. Claire Dux, who sent her to Berlin to study with Louis Bachner, the world renowned singing teacher. There, for several years, her life was saturated with music, for Miss Fairbank is a worker. She perfected herself in German diction, coached in lieder singing and in opera, and danced at the Wigman School in Berlin.

Ways to Care for Your Pretty Hands

Will your hands be as smooth as the petals of the flowers in your corsage Easter morning? They should be.

There are more things than dish-water to make hands red and rough. Dusting furniture and washing windows on a cold day play havoc with your hands. You should wear rubber gloves when you do housework. The office worker knows that dusty files and carbon paper are the worst bug-bears of her hands. And she can't wear rubber gloves. Sportswomen wear gloves most of the time and consequently nine out of ten of them have lovely, smooth, white hands. They know that the inconvenience of gloves for sports is unimportant compared to the utter ugliness and gracelessness of badly groomed hands on a woman in an evening dress.

If winter wind and steam heat has dried out the natural oil in the skin on your hands you should begin at once to put some of it back. Warm olive oil can be thoroughly massaged into your hands at night. Wear a pair of clean, old cotton gloves all night. Be sure they are very loose to permit plenty of circulation. Try this inexpensive, home treatment every night from now until Easter and be amazed at the results.

A hand lotion is indispensable in your cosmetic drawer. Use it after you wash and dry your hands. And use it every time.

If the cuticle is rough and dry don't cut the rough edges. Use cuticles remover each time you manicure your nails and soak the cuticle in olive oil every night. Push it back with the towel after each washing until the little half moons show to your own satisfaction.

Small Feminine Frills Soften Severity of the Styles

By JOAN SAVOY

By NEA Service

Sturdily woven linens and cottons come tailored to suit the king's taste, and to satisfy women's present tendency toward mannish things.

Your pajama suits probably will utilize cottons and linens this year. And the more tailored they are, the more you will be in style.

There are various ways of achieving this mannish look. Some are cut just like men's suits, but they do not become the most women. Others borrow the waistcoat idea, the tailored lapels, the double-breasted coat theme or other mannish touches.

One particularly lovely new suit is made of gorgeous coral and white linen, of a sturdy, firm weave which prevents the usual wrinkling that detracts from linen things.

The lines are masculine enough to satisfy the modern demand, but feminine enough to be absolutely flattering, which is what every woman wants.

The trousers, with their well-cropped lengths, are of the coral, and button onto the upper part with ornamental buttons. The upper is a neat masculine cut, a white waistcoat on the coral, with tailored lapels of the coral. The back, however, is a very feminine low sun-tan cut.

Over this two-piece suit a cute bolero fits smartly. It has a tailored neckline with the same kind of revers as the blouse, and a notched collar. It is short, reaching barely to the waistline, and has straight, long sleeves.

After the usual business transactions the lesson on home made rugs was given by the local leaders. They had many rugs on display such as braided, hooked, crocheted, and knitted, and they were all very pretty. The subject on how to make these rugs was explained and a short demonstration was given. Many discussions followed and every woman seemed much enthused about them. The rugs were made of old materials, such as silk hose, underwear, blankets, and other left over materials. The meeting proper, then adjourned.

A short program was given by the hostess, after which George Washington games were enjoyed. A prize was given to Mrs. Kuel, she being the winner, representing the cherry tree of George Washington, and was made of a small barberry branch with tiny, brightly colored gum drops fastened to each thorn. MODERN BUSINESS PRESSURE.

Ernest G. Liebold's flight from utter weariness is a tragic example of the way in which modern life can drive a man past the margin of physical endurance.

There is something pathetic and appealing in the remark Mr. Ford's secretary made when his aimless wanderings had ended. He explained:

"During the past two weeks I've been working night and day. I was getting only one and one-half hours' sleep a night. . . I just had to get away."

And he added:
"I wanted to go some place to rest and forget everything until I could think straight again. I knew I couldn't go home—the telephone would ring constantly and I'd have to go back to work again."

In those sentences Mr. Liebold summed up the reaction of a fagged body and brain to the strains imposed by modern living. He is not the only business executive who has suffered in this way. That despairing, "I just had to get away" is a remark that the front office of more than one corporation has heard over and over again.

The big business man has come in for a lot of kidding in recent years, what with his golf, his interminable lunch hours, his habit of being "in conference," and so on; but while there are business men of this type, there are many more who go through the Liebold regime—day after day of hard, brain-straining work, with no uninterrupted rest periods and no let-downs.

For the successful business executive these days is supposed to be a super-man. He is supposed to be above fatigue, nervous weakness and the ordinary mortal's need for quiet sleep. He has to drive himself mercilessly, by the very nature of his job; and if, once in a while, he simply drops everything and makes a desperate effort to get away, who can blame him?

One of the reforms the business world has got to make sooner or later is to relieve the pressure on its executive.

SIGNING WITHOUT LOOKING.

The Texas newspaper reporter who found it an easy job to get 400 reputable fellow citizens to sign a petition urging President Roosevelt to appoint his would-be assassin, Giuseppe Zangara, to a job in the cabinet seems to have proved once more that the ordinary man doesn't bother to read things very closely before he signs his name to them.

This petition began with a harmless paragraph urging governmental economy, and that, apparently, was enough for the hasty 400. Innocently enough, they signed on the dotted line; and the ease with which their signatures were obtained casts a new light on the way in which public petitions get circulated, signed and delivered.

There is still a good deal to be said for the canny old Yankee custom of refusing to sign anything until every word has been scrutinized with devout care.

HELPLESS CHINA.

Dispatches from rival commanders in the field seldom agree on what has actually taken place, and it is, consequently, difficult to know at this distance precisely what is going on on the battlefields about Jehol; but a summary of the conflicting claims seems to indicate that the Japanese drive is moving even faster than the Japanese themselves had predicted, and that Chinese opposition is not sufficient to stem the march of the Mikado's efficient, disciplined war machine.

This, after all, is hardly surprising. Modern warfare gives an enormous advantage to the army which has the bulge in equipment and training; and that the Japanese army enjoys a vast advantage over the Chinese in this respect is not to be disputed. It becomes increasingly evident that unless the powers of the world find some way of making their influence felt, Japan is going to do just about as she pleases in China. China can't stop her.

OUR STRONGEST INSTINCT.

The instinct of self-preservation is usually a good deal stronger than we realize; so strong, indeed, that it can be impossible to check it.

A New Yorker, down on his luck, tried to commit suicide by throwing himself into New York harbor not long ago. He got into the water on schedule, all right, but once he had done that his body refused to give up the struggle. He was an expert swimmer, and in spite of his wish to die he found himself swimming around lustily. After some 20 minutes he gave up, crawled out, and let the police take him to a hospital and put him to bed.

"I just couldn't stay down," he explained.
As an example of the way in which the body insists on clinging to life this little tale is as interesting as any that has got into print in a long time.

You find men in Congress not physically fit to legislate, especially in the Senate, where there are a lot of gray-haired old men.—Representative John H. Hoeppel of California.

The true writer expresses himself, his day-dreams, his ideals; the public is the last thing he thinks about and he will not prostitute himself or his art.—Miss V. Sackville-West, English poet.

IN 1932

Fifty-three Saturday paydays in 1932—and Uncle Sam chooses that year for an increase in his income taxes!

Maybe you didn't have to file an income tax return last March 15, but must do so this year, since exemptions have been cut to $2500 for married persons and $1000 for single persons. If so, the responsibility for filing a return is yours.

And, if your 1932 income exceeded the exemption, don't try to dodge filing a return because, as a double check, Uncle Sam requires employers to report their payrolls to him.

Income Taxes Explained By Commissioner

THE NEW GIFT TAX

Gift tax returns under the Gift Tax Act of 1932 must be filed with the appropriate Collector of Internal Revenue on or before the 15th day of March. The tax is due at the same time. Any individual citizen or resident of the United States who made gifts during the calendar year 1932, subsequent to June 6, 1932, in excess of $5,000 to any one donee or gifts of future interests regardless of value, must file a gift tax return. The return must be filed even though because of authorized deductions the gift is not taxable. One of the authorized deductions is the specific exemption allowed a citizen or resident of the United States. Non-resident aliens are not entitled to this exemption. The specific exemption cannot exceed $5,000 during the life of the donor. The total amount may be claimed at one time or it may be spread over a number of years. A nonresident alien must file a return when the gift consists of property situated within the United States. Individuals only are required to file returns as donors and not trustees, estates, partnerships, or corporations the individual beneficiaries of such trusts or estates, the individual partners of such partnerships, or the individual stockholders of such corporations may become liable for the filing of returns.

Taxable gifts are not restricted to the most usual and obvious kinds, such as gifts of cash, real property, chattels, stocks and bonds, including all Federal, State and municipal bonds. A gift may consist of any species of property whether in trust or otherwise and whether direct or indirect. A taxable gift may be effected by the declaration of a trust by foregoing a debt; by assigning a judgment; by assigning the benefits of a contract of insurance; by naming a beneficiary other than the donor or his estate of a contract of insurance; by paying a premium under a contract of insurance, the legal incidents of ownership of which are held by another; by conveying title to another and the donor as joint tenants or to the donor's wife or husband and the donor as tenants by the entirety; by purchasing an annuity for the benefit of another; by purchasing services for the benefit of another; or by permitting another to withdraw funds from a joint bank account deposited by the donor.

While charitable, public and similar gifts must be included in the return, such gifts are deductible from the gross gifts for the year. In addition to the more usual gifts of this nature, such as donations to community chests and religious organizations, gifts to posts or organizations of war veterans and the special funds for vocational rehabilitation authorized under the World War Veterans' Act of 1924, are deductible.

More detailed information is attached to the gift tax return Form 709, which may be obtained from any Collector of Internal Revenue. Persons or organizations that received gifts during that portion of the calendar year, 1932, subsequent to June 6, 1932, in excess of $5,000 or gifts of future interests, in property, regardless of value, are required to file information returns. The information returns, Form 710, must be led on or before the 15th day of March. If the gift is made in trust, the information return may be filed by either the beneficiary of the trust or the trustee. The donee's or trustee's information return of gifts, Form 710, may also be obtained from any Collector of Internal Revenue.

Daily Health Talk

CERTAIN DEATH

Every one in a while we read of someone leaving instructions that before he or she is buried, a group of physicians should be called together to make certain that death has taken place.

This somewhat bizarre fear has given physicians much trouble and has taxed the speculative powers of psychologists.

Perhaps the attempts to explain to an inquiring child what death means, and the use of expressions like "sleep forever," may contribute to the development of such a fear.

Despite reports of instances where a supposedly dead person came back to life, the probabilities of an individual being considered dead when he or she is merely unconscious or in a coma, are practically nil.

There are many well known methods for differentiating real from apparent death.

The physician may listen for heart sounds with his stethoscope. He can determine the cessation of respiration by holding a mirror before the mouth. He may determine whether there is any blood circulation by tying a ligature about a limb and watching for swelling of the veins.

Rigor mortis, or the stiffening which the dead body undergoes, is a positive sign of death. The injection of dyes into the circulation and the appearance of the dye in the eye is a highly technical procedure, but can be employed to determine whether or not circulation has ceased. One can also look for movement of the blood in the capillaries.

It has been observed that in a living person the pupils of the eye retain their round shape, even when strong pressure is applied with the fingers to two or more sides of the eyeball.

In a dead person, however, such pressure will produce an observable deformation of the pupil.

Dr. Tonelli, who has devised this method applied it to 649 cases. In all of them the test was frankly positive. In 6 cases of apparent death, the tests were negative.

Tomorrow—Testing Hearing.

A BOOK A DAY

A NEW RACE TAKES SHAPE

By Bruce Catton

There is an acute and thoughtful evaluation of the forces that shape American character in Frank Ernest Hill's "What is American?" Until comparatively recently, Mr. Hill remarks, the first word that would come to mind in response to that question was the word "democracy." But things have changed a bit, now, and "democracy" is no longer the word that explains everything and characterizes everything.

To begin with, Mr. Hill thinks that no one has put enough emphasis on the influence on human beings of the American land itself. Its mountains, its tremendous distances, its vast prairies, its great forests, its mighty rivers, its deserts—these, he says, are like nothing else on earth. America, physically, is not just a larger edition of Europe or a smaller edition of Asia. It is unique and it is shaping a unique race.

Then there is the frontier—vanished forever, now, but still a potent force. It, too, is a factor which no other group of people has had to face, and no one can understand America without understanding it.

Other forces, similarly unique, have been at work: vast waves of immigration, mingling innumerable blood strains, traditions and customs; the presence in the land of the Indian and the Negro, more potent modifying agents than we suppose; the Puritan tradition, still strongly at work; lastly, the machine, perfected here as nowhere else, still too close to be measured accurately but most profoundly important.

The result? A race almost as unlike the European as the Chinese, moving on to an unpredictable and momentous destiny.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The decision of Joe Byrns of Tennessee to give up his chairmanship of the house appropriations committee to take over the floor leadership may mean that that job is to be handled more aggressively in the future.

Under the speakership regime of Jack Garner there were times when the two jobs appeared to have been combined under Garner's party leadership in the house, but with Byrns on the job there are strong indications that he is destined to be the cutting edge for the administration in its move to get through the Roosevelt legislative program.

Quick Action Needed

There is need for quick and decisive action on the new administration's legislative program. The steering committee will be new and amateurish at the start because the idea has never been tried before. It will be up to Burns to get things moving speedily and smoothly.

There is little of the czar in the tall, lanky, beetle-browed Tennesseean. One of the first things he did when he took over the chairmanship of the all-important appropriations committee in the last congress was to announce that everybody would be heard.

He has the same ideas about his new job. Only recently, on the floor of the house while discussing an appropriation bill, he made a statement that might suggest how he will act as his party's leader:

The Door's Open
"I have always believed," he said, "that notwithstanding this is a large membership and notwithstanding the fact that we have to have rules in order to do business, there is no reason why every member of the house should not have an opportunity to express himself upon major matters as they arise, even though to a limited extent."

He knows the game of the house as very few do.

ALL U. S. ON SHOW AT BIGGEST FAIR

Federal and State Boards Work on Exhibits.

An "All-American tour" that can be accomplished within a walking distance of one-third of a mile will be one of the astounding possibilities offered the millions who will visit Chicago's 1933 World's Fair.

This flight on a modern magic carpet can be accomplished at the Century of Progress exposition merely by a tour through the group housing the Hall of States, and the adjacent Federal building. Each state will present in graphic displays the best it has to offer in the way of history, scenic attractions, and natural resources, all aimed to claim the interest of the visitor, the tourist, the homemaker, and the prospective investor. Each exhibit will be designed to avoid duplication of the state's presentations in the Federal building.

State Commissions Busy Five full months before the opening of the Fair on June 1, next, the complete and co-ordinated participation of the federal and state governments is fully guaranteed. Congress has appropriated $1,000,000 for the national exhibit. Already forty-four states and four territories have taken official steps to insure that they will be represented. Many of them have set aside appropriations for their exhibits. Official commissions from thirty-seven states have visited the Fair grounds, made their surveys, and are proceeding now with arrangements for their space. Each state hopes to outdo all the others in friendly rivalry to provide the best state exhibit.

The parade of the states will grace one of the finest and most accessible sites of the Fair grounds. The hall will stand on Northernly island, within the Agricultural building on the north, the Sky Ride, Social Science hall and the Electrical group to the south, Lake Michigan on the east, and the Federal building, facing the lagoon, to the west.

Shaped like a V, the Hall of States will stretch 500 feet across the base, with two arms 500 feet in length and 140 feet wide at the longest point. The individual spaces within the building will range from 2,000 to 6,000 square feet. Entrances to the various exhibits will open on the great Court of States, which will occupy the open space between the arms of the V. A sunken garden and additional landscaping will add beauty to the court.

Buttressing the Federal building will be three great towers, each 130 feet high, representing the three great divisions of government. The building itself, 620 feet long by 300 feet wide, will command the Hall of States at the open end of the V. With its soaring towers and a 75-foot domed-shape main structure, this will be one of the outstanding architectural features of the exposition.

Governmental economy is given every consideration in arrangements for the federal and state exhibits. The new idea of housing all states in one group of buildings is itself a great economy. It enables each state to spend the bulk of its appropriation on exhibiting its attractions, instead of on individual buildings or pavilions. The plan also puts the states on equal footing in their bid for popularity with Fair visitors, as each state will have its separate entrance and thus maintain its own individuality.

The appropriations of the various states are in no way subsidies or contributions to the World's Fair. Each will use the money it has provided to show the world its own attractions. Each will develop its own scenario, present its own individual stage show.

FEW WINDOWS BREAK WALLS AT THE FAIR; HERE ARE REASONS No windows. The millions who enjoy Chicago's World's Fair will be made more curious by the complete lack of windows in most of the exhibition buildings at a Century of Progress.

There is a reason, of course; more than one good reason, in fact. For one thing, the absence of windows permits an economy of space and of construction cost that meant a saving of many thousands of dollars in the building and the addition of many priceless square feet of exhibition space.

Even more important, the lack of windows permits continuous control over interior illumination, even during the brightest of sunlit hours. The modern architect and artist relies greatly upon color and lighting effects to convey his ideas, and this constant control of the lighting insures perfect presentation of exhibits.

Include merely the suburbs that are so close to Chicago that they are part of the city in all but their local governments, and the population total of 4,000,000 would give an estimate of 400,000 guests daily for the Fair.

Extend the areas to include what officials of Chicago, its newspapers and commerce chiefs call the metropolitan area, and the population jumps to around 5,000,000. That would mean 500,000 visitors every day at the World's Fair. It would mean that 75,000,000 persons will view the exposition between June 1 and November 1.

Polo, Ghoul's and Reynolds Wire were the victors in the trio of local Commercial Cage games played last night in the north side high school gymnasium. The Ghoul's trimmed the Battery Shop 38-23; Beiers' Loafers lost to Polo 33-19; a pair of crippled teams played in the second game, Ashton losing to the Reynolds Wire Co. 34-17.

Next Tuesday evening the last of the Commercial contests will be staged. These games will be the most inviting of the year as each winner will definitely decide the final positions in the standings.

The feature will be when the Reynolds and Ghoul's clash to decide the 1932-33 champion. Ashton will be out to top the third round pennant but to tie for second honors in the season's records must take Polo next Tuesday. In the other battle the cellar championship will be settled between Beiers and the Battery Shop.

Last evening's entertainment was opened with the Ghoul's-Battery game. Getting away to a fast start the Ghoul's could count. The score at the quarter gave the Battery Shop a 10-4 lead. Then the action shifted and while stopping the Shoppers with only a single basket the Ghoul's rang up 17 points to lead at the half 21-12. The advantage increased to 31-18 at the end of the third period with the final score being 38-23 in the Ghoul's favor. Carlson led the scorers with six baskets and two free tosses for 14 points. L. Miller was next with 10 scores.

Ashton appeared without Oburn and Kersten, the regular guards and the Reynolds had to play without the services of Joyce, regular forward. Despite the handicap Ashton pulled up to an 8-3 lead at the quarter. Dixon went better in the next period to lead 13-12 at the half. Score 10 points to Ashton's zero in the third section Dixon grabbed a lead of 23-12. The final gave the Reynolds a 34-17 win. G. Lebre headed the scorers, making 11 points on five baskets and a free toss. Kennedy and E. Lebre had eight points each for second place.

In the final game Polo walked away from the Loafers for a 33-19 victory. Leading 9-5 at the quarter Polo increased it to 16-8 at the half. Both teams connected in the next period but Polo remained in the lead 27-18. A slow fourth quarter gave Polo six more points for the 33-19 verdict. Frey's five baskets and two free throws led the scoring.

New York, March 8—(AP)—Babe Ruth's flat announcement that he would retire from baseball rather than sign a $500,000 contract with the New York Yankees has met with widely differing reactions from major league baseball observers.

Some took the position that Ruth, as the greatest drawing card in the game, was worth as much money as he could get. A somewhat larger percentage believed the slugger was pursuing a poor policy in view of the financial situation.

One of the Babe's strongest supporters was Neal O'Hara of Boston.

Writing in the Boston Traveler, O'Hara quoted the huge salaries paid radio and motion picture luminaries and then said:

"This is no time to try chiseling the real stars, especially when the stars are as well heeled as Ruth. The Yankees' homers this year, you can bet, it is an axiom of the amusement industry that in tough times it takes the topnotchers to lure them to the box office."

PERSONALS

One of the first official acts of Eddie Collins as boss of the Red Sox was to tell Marty McManus to play third base. Eddie deems Marty too young to become a bench manager. . . . and says Bucky Harris quit the diamond for the plank too soon. Marty Burky, who became so proficient as a sparring partner that Jack Dempsey had to let him go because he no longer could hit him, is doing well now as a promoter in New Orleans. . . . Derby talk drifted to Dynastic. . . . he was unplaced only twice in 10 starts as a two-year-old. . . . and finished third in the Futurity and Kentucky Jockey Club stakes. They are saying Gallant Sir is the horse Pillow Flight has to beat to win the Agua Caliente Derby.

THE BASEBALL BOOK

Tom Kearney of St. Louis, one of the biggest "storekeepers" in the United States, issues his odds on the baseball races. The Yankees are a 3 to 5 choice to repeat. Odds in the American League range from that to 100 to 1 on the Browns and Red Sox. But the longest price you can get on a National League team is 20 to 1. You're right—the Cincinnati Reds.

This indicates that the National is far and away the better balanced league. And seems to confirm the predictions of certain ball players to the effect that the Yanks would be far in front by July 4.

Now and then the "stores" of course are wrong. Back in 1924 Kearney was hit for $85,000 when Black Gold won the Derby. But he hasn't been very wrong since then.

Shanty Hogan, former Giant catcher now with the Braves, is an expert at billiards and bridge. . . . Junior Coen, tennis star, is nearly as good at basketball as he is at tennis. . . . Jackson Scholz and Charlie Paddock are two examples of writers who not only can run but write. . . . they could run, that is. Jimmy Fox can hit a golf ball 360 yards when he really tries. . . . Tilden writes and plays bridge very well. . . . but as an actor he's a tennis player. . . . Charlie Grimm is a magician. . . . but it takes more than magic to beat the Yanks. . . . Pete Jablonowski, Yankee pitcher, can pick up and put down Chopin chess on a piano just like Paderewski. . . . almost.

Kroh had ten points for next position.

Miami, Fla., March 8—(AP)—Ray Benze expects to celebrate his escape from the Phillies' bandbox park by winning 20 ball games for the Brooklyn Dodgers this season.

The big right-hander gave a huge sigh of relief when he was traded to the Dodgers during the winter, for it meant he would have to cope with the short right field wall in Philadelphia, famous target for left handed hitters, only occasionally instead of through half the season.

"At Ebets Field," Benze said, "I ought to win between 15 and 20 games."

Chicago, March 8—(AP)—The first major offensive on the Illinois high school district basketball tournament front was due for today, following a few minor skirmishes last night.

The original list of teams striving for places in the sectional's which will open a week from today was 81—a new record—but engagements in six district centers reduced the number to 792.

By tonight, the list of survivors will number less than 400 after the rest of the 63 district work through their first round matches.

Among the standouts scheduled for action today were Morton high of Cicero, the defending champion, Benton, Prepost, Streator, Waterman and Sycamore, bitter neighborhood rivals; Gillespie and West Frankfort. All have completed excellent records in their regular schedules and are favored in their districts.

Since state championships have been decided, starting in 1908 when Peoria won, only five schools have repeated as titleholders, and only one, Elgin, won two years in succession. Elgin fought its way to the top in 1924 and 1925, and Bloomington, Rockford, Prepost, and Centralia comprise the list of two-time winners.

DEVINE HINTED AT SCANDAL IN ILL. UNIVERSITY

Dixon Legislator Induced House Not To Visit Institution

Criticism of the University of Illinois was made in the House of Representatives by John P. Devine of this city yesterday. He won such support that by roll call vote the house in effect, refused an invitation to make its customary biennial inspection of the university.

Devine's attack was made after the invitation from President Harry Woodburn Chase had been read to the house. The head of the university extended his bid in most cordial phrasing. He also said:

"The question has been raised whether the inspection should not be abandoned this year in order to save the state the expense which ture costs when the possibility of such ridiculous mistakes exist. Untold suffering among veterans and their dependents has been caused by the drastic reductions and wholesale eliminations in compensation and disability allowance payments already placed in effect. It was this absurd tremendous cost estimate that provided the administration with the pretext upon which these reductions were deemed essential.

Fortunately, the truth has become known in time to discredit further attacks upon the veteran. The National Economy League must now confess that its anti-veteran program has been built upon a foundation of erroneous information and statistics that are repudiated by the Administration itself—Horace Ott Post, No. 540, Veteran of Foreign Wars.

WASHINGTON, March 8—(AP)—Any prospect of former Kaiser Wilhelm II seeking to regain the throne of imperial Germany as a result of recent events there was stated today to have vanished through the former sovereign's own act.

If the London ally Mail's correspondence at Doorn, Holland, is accurately informed, Wilhelm Hohenzollern has completely and voluntarily abandoned the aim with which he has often been credited—of again wielding power over his own people.

Instead, he is reported seeking permission to spend his declining years in the privacy of his castle at Homburg vor der Hohe, the famous mineral spring resort in make the party's assignments to all other committees.

Already there are two Tammanyites, Cullen and Sullivan of New York, on Ways and Means. With the exception of about four members, the remainder, including Chairman-designate Doughton of North Carolina, supported the Rainey-Byrns ticket for the leadership at the caucus last week in which McDuffie of Alabama was defeated for Speaker and Bankhead of Alabama for leader.

The breach between the Rainey-Byrns-Cullen followers and supporters of McDuffie was widened when several of the Alabama's most ardent advocates were privately informed that they were to be punished by being shifted from important to minor committee posts.

Many Conflicts Likely Because of the unwieldy membership of 313, these developments are portentous of many conflicts among the Democrats.

Meanwhile, the Republicans appear to be running into a little trouble of their own. The Pennsylvania delegation is understood ready to prevent McDuffie of Pennsylvania retaining his ranking seat on the Banking committee because of his attempted impeachment of former President Hoover in the last Congress.

Representative Snell of New York, minority leader, has called the Republican committee on committees to meet Thursday morning to fill six vacancies on the Ways and Means committee.

Wife's Secret Mission This request to return to Germany was said to be the special mission undertaken by his second wife, Princess Hermine, when she recently went to Berlin from their residence in exile Doorn. She was reported seeking sanction of the scheme from the new powers in Germany.

Any anxiety the ex-Kaiser may have felt concerning the attitude of his sons toward his abandonment of claims to the throne were reportedly removed by a kind of confirmatory document of abdication. At a recent family council in Doorn, the sons were reported to have turned over all their "rights" to the throne to the ex-crown prince for his disposal.

JAPAN DRAFTS NOTE QUITTING NATIONS GROUP

Nippon's Troops Continue Advance Toward Great Wall

(By The Associated Press.) Japan's determination to withdraw from the League of Nations as a result of the Sino-Japanese dispute becomes more apparent.

This determination was made evident as her forces rested momentarily after taking over the last important pass through the Great Wall of China, south of Jehol City.

The Japanese cabinet after the matter had been submitted to the emperor, approved and sent to the Privy Council the draft of a communication which is expected to be submitted to the League of Nations about March 20, calling for permanent withdrawal from that organization.

The Japanese delegation walked out of the League Assembly recently after unanimous adoption of a report condemning Japanese action in Manchuria.

Koupeikou, dispatches from Jehol City related, has been occupied by the 16th infantry brigade of Maj. Gen. Tadashi Kakkara. This pass, which is 65 miles northwest of Peiping, was the last important gateway in that region to all to the invader.

Meanwhile, Marshal Chang Hsiao Ling, who had been directing the campaign against the invaders, resigned as military overlord of North China and assumed the blame for the loss of Jehol province to the Japanese.
